Titusville Morning Herald.

FOR GOVERNOR,

MAJ GEN JOHN W GEARY,

OF CUMBERLAND COUNTY

Debate in the House of Representatives on the Bill to Incorporate the Titusville Pipe Company.

The consideration of House bill No 378, an act to incorporate the Titusville pipe company, was resumed March 13, pending the motion to lay it aside for second reading

Mr Sturtevant—Mr Speaker, just as the House adjourned I was about to state that the people in that portion of the State, have been heretofore very much opposed to those companies and to this method of conveying oil, and they strenuously opposed the passage of all such acts In this Legislature, one year ago, I opposed a number of such bills, not so much on account of my own objections to them but the member from Venango [Mr Burgwin] was opposed to them and I voted with him

I have said sir, that two lines of pipe had been laid from Pithole to Oleopolis, a distance of seven miles Since that time there have been two miles of pipe laid from Pithole to Shaffer I read from the same paper (THE HERALD)

ANOTHER LINE OF TUBING IN WORKING ORDER One line of the Bradnichoff and Shaffer pipe was tested yesterday and operated as successfully as could be desired It is delivering oil the distance of two miles at the rate of one thousand two hundred and fifty barrels per day The second line will be tested to-morrow The lines are owned by Henry Harley & Co

Thus I notice further that

Two lines of similar capacity have just been completed by Messrs Henry Harley & Co, from Bennehoff Run to Shaffer farm, on the Oil Creek railroad a distance of the hills of only two miles The construction of lines of pipe from Petroleum Centre to Titusville, and from the same point to Oil City is but a question of time more than one party is in the field for each line

When this pipe laying was commenced, parties would come into the field and purchase the right of way and lay their pipe, and then come and ask for a charter Now, I am willing to amend the bill so as to confine this to parties who have already got their pipes laid down and I am willing to amend further that it shall be confined to the Mercy farm I supposed there was a bonus clause in the bill I see there is not I would suggest to amend by inserting, That they shall pay a bonus of one half of one per cent upon their capital stock

Now sir, whether this Legislature should grant this charter or not the oil will pass through their pipes Their capacity is one thousand barrels a day, but set their capacity at five hundred barrels that at one dollar a barrel for say three hundred working days in the year would enable them to pay a bonus of twenty five dollars a year

That sir is the only question that this Legislature is to look at The oil will be conveyed in all events whether they are chartered or not but the question is whether or not they shall pay one half of one per cent of their receipts into the State Treasury

Now, sir, there are several parties in the field as this paper states wanting to lay their pipes from Titusville to Petroleum Centre, and from that place to Oil City It is only a question of time The people of Oil City very naturally protest against it for every barrel passes out through these pipes over to the Oil Creek railroad at Corry then they take the Philadelphia and Erie or the Atlantic and Great Western railroads, at that place If it does not reach the Oil Creek railroad then it will pass through the Pennsylvania tubing and transportation company's pipes and down the Pithole railroad to Oleopolis It will certainly either pass over one of these railroads down to Rouseville or pass through this pipe to Oleopolis Of course as they already have a railroad at Pithole they are opposed to it

I hope sir that the Legislature will grant them this charter and that this bill be allowed to go to a second reading

Mr Wilson—Mr Speaker I have but a word to say on this bill which cannot be regarded otherwise than as having been sprung upon this House I did not expect that it would come before the House to day as it was not on the private calendar and of course I am not prepared to oppose it as I should have done had it not been sprung upon us in this way I shall, however, make a few desultory remarks which I trust will be all that will be necessary, presuming upon the justice and good sense of this House

The member from Crawford [Mr Sturtevant] has gone into an elaborate statement in the endeavor to prove, I suppose that Crawford county is in favor of it Crawford county is in favor of a great many things quite a number of just such bills as this among the number but why Crawford county should take particular charge of Venango I do not know It is not likely to be very thankfully received however. We think we have a right to be heard in this House, and our people are opposed to the bill in toto, and to all others of the same genus It is calculated to injure our country It carries our oil away from us It supports and encourages monopolies and nothing else We want our country developed Our oil is being daily carried away and we receive nothing in return We want to see cities and towns built up and we have a right to expect that members here will not force this up on us to injure our cities The city of Brotherly Love has reaped the benefit of this product of our soil it has become a source of wealth to that city and we expect from her members that, in return for this, we will be protected—that, while it has built up their city and filled their coffers it shall be allowed likewise to build up cities for us

These bills sir are more objectionable than would appear from their face I think sir that oil cannot be carried for any such figure and if it has been carried so it is too low a figure We would see sir that it would result as it has done heretofore They would carry it for less than it could be carried for by the teams, and then, when the teams were driven from the road, they would say We cannot carry your oil for you and then as the oil cannot be otherwise transported, they will purchase it themselves

We know sir, that carrying by teams is expensive, and we do not advocate having it so carried longer than until railroads can be constructed And sir if these tubes are built in this way it will prevent railroads being extended to those parts of the country It will prevent our development, and we therefore object to it I am aware sir there are a few persons who will make a strong effort to effect this I will not however impugn their motives, and I believe the sense of honor and the justice of this House will at once put a quietus on the whole thing I do not believe that it is the desire or the design of this House to encourage monopolies or injure any section of the country, and I believe they will not favor a bill that will injure any part of the country, and this is calculated to do nothing short of that

Mr Burgwin—Mr Speaker, I desire to say just a word in answer to the gentleman from Venango [Mr Wilson] He says that Crawford county desires to do all the legislation for Venango county Now, sir, it is a fact, patent to every member on this floor, that nine tenths of the capital that has gone into Venango for the purpose of developing that county to day, was sent there by people from other parts of the country ninety nine hundredths of it is owned by people who do not reside in that county And I will say this, that my own county of Crawford is to day just as much interested in the production of oil in Venango county, as are the people of that county, and the gentleman has not succeeded in convincing me that it would be wrong to permit these pipe companies to carry the oil Just look at the case for a moment We should endeavor to do the greatest good to the greatest number Now, sir, it is demonstrated that oil can be transported cheaper by means of these pipes than by any other method Then it is not only a benefit to the producer, but to the consumer also

We are not legislating, sir, for the benefit of any particular town or county, but for the public good—that which shall produce the greatest good of the greatest number I have no desire to do anything which would work any hardship upon the people whom the gentleman from Venango represents There is a plank road constructed from Titusville to Pithole, over nearly the same road over which it is proposed to lay this tube, and railroads are being constructed all over the oil region, so that it is simply a question of how the oil shall best be transported

Mr Allen—Mr Speaker, I feel it my duty, as a representative, in part, of the people of Venango county, to oppose the passage of this bill

I agree with the Senator who has just spoken in the principle of the greatest good to the greatest number, and upon that very principle I would urge the justice of defeating this bill

Now, sir, the gentleman himself is well aware that the benefit arising from this bill would be confined to the few, while it would work injury to many. The company for which he is endeavoring to procure this legislation would be benefitted, while the men who have to handle the oil would be injured, inasmuch as they would be deprived from transporting it with their teams And I will say this sir that in the country which I represent, and in all that part of the State, there are hundreds of men who have worked hard and earn a three hundred and fifty or four hundred dollars simply gathering enough to buy a team, wagon and harness, for the purpose of transporting this article which God in His wisdom has deposited and distributed all over that part of our State for the benefit of those who are dependent upon their daily labor for support of their families, and who are doing all they can to obtain the sustenance decreed upon them that they shall earn their bread by the sweat of their brow, and yet it is proposed to deprive them of their means of livelihood for the benefit of a few men who thrive by investing their capital and not by the work of their hands

Now, sir, as I have said, there are hundreds of men in this business who would be thrown out of employment, if this principle of monopoly is countenanced, and the investments they have made for the purpose of carrying oil from point to point wasted; and their occupation gone, and themselves deprived of the just benefits of the great wealth so beneficently bestowed to all, they have no resources to invest in producing or trafficking in oil, and by this kind of monopoly will be deprived of any benefit except the little coming out of the liberality of capitalists and corporations in which the poor man finds but little sympathy

Is there not then more injury done to the poor man, thus cut off from these benefits than will counterbalance the benefit derived to the few incorporators from the laying of these pipes?

Mr Sturtevant I would ask the gentleman if it would not throw these same men out of employment if a railroad was built in the same place?

Mr Allen I am not talking about railroads, but about pipes

The gentleman has alluded to several other bills of this character being proposed Now, sir for that very reason the people of Venango held a meeting and unanimously asked their representatives to oppose all measures which were against the interests of the working men those who ought to be benefitted by the productions of that section of country

It will be remembered that a day or two ago, a bill was introduced coming from the same source and urged by this same gentleman, (Mr Sturtevant) asking to incorporate a plank road company, with the right to collect six cents per mile for travel, over which this class of men are compelled to draw their oil, and when they were defeated in that, the next thing is the tubing bill We see here a co-operation of those interests for the benefit of a few corporations endeavoring to get the poor man in their power, so that they can pay them just what they choose for their labor This is a monopoly, sir, which ought not to be encouraged by the men who are sent here to care for the interests of the people, and not those corporations, to cripple the laboring man We ought to look to the interests of the many and not legislate entirely for the benefit of a few corporations It is but just, sir that any county shall dictate what is to its benefit and what is justice to its people This county of Venango has unanimously asked her representatives in vain to prevent the passage of this bill, and I feel assured, sir, that this Legislature will not disregard the wishes of the people to be affected by this bill and that this House will not pass a bill to which we as representatives object I ask but for gentleman to do as they would be done by

Mr Sturtevant Mr Speaker, it is scarcely necessary for me to say a word The gentleman from Venango has manifested considerable feeling in regard to the number from Crawford endeavoring to legislate somewhat for Venango—Now, sir there is no gentleman in this House for whom I have a higher respect than I have for the gentleman from Venango, and I would not do anything to affect injuriously the interests of his county if I knew that it would have that effect I felt with regard to that plank road as I do in regard to this bill and I wish this House to understand that I do not desire to have this company incorporated for the purpose of putting down tubes, the tubes are already laid down and it merely a question of dollars and cents with the State treasury, for they will run their oil through in any event, whether we charter them or not

I would say here, sir, to the gentleman from Warren [Mr Allen] that his argument would have done very well fifty years ago It is not twenty years since stages were running upon the road to Pittsburgh and when railroads were built many men owned stage coaches and horses, and employed drivers and then those drivers were out of employment, and the stage-coaches, &c were idle That argument would do very well fifty years ago, but in this day it is rather late

Mr Allen—I would ask the gentleman if it is intended to run men through these pipes?—[Laughter]

Mr Sturtevant—No, sir, they could not get through very well but I do not see that the question is very pertinent I do not see the point at all events We do not run men on telegraph lines, either Railroads transport passengers rapidly and cheaply, from one place to another, however, and these pipes transport oil cheaply as well as rapidly, and people will not pay two dollars a barrels when they can get it transported for one dollar

One word more as to the question between Crawford and Venango Titusville is the leading town in the oil region, and the centre of the oil business There has been more oil shipped there than at any other point, as I understand it, and a great many of the principal business men in the oil region have their headquarters at Titusville, and when the plank road was built the greater part of the money was furnished by people in Crawford county, and I have no doubt that more of the people of Crawford county will use that road than of the people of Venango county

Mr Allen Mr Speaker, I will simply say that it seems to me very clear that the benefit to the State would not arise from throwing out of employment the laboring class of men, who are now participating in the benefits of this thing—If gentlemen think it is any great object to the State of Pennsylvania to take a few dollars from the pockets of the poor man and put them in the treasury they can vote for this bill, if not they can vote against it

Mr Mann Mr Speaker, I did not intend to discuss the merits of this bill, for I do not understand the subject very well But, we ought to pass upon this bill, upon its merits, without inquiring who advocates or opposes it, because, sir this question of the oil, its development and the work of transporting it is fast becoming a national question The National Government has already taken hold of this article of petroleum as one of the means of filling the treasury, and it seems to me preposterous for representatives from the different counties to come to the Legislature and say this is a local question—Why, sir, it long ago passed out of the domain of local questions and became a national question It therefore seems to me important to pass upon this bill according to its merits entirely

As I have said, sir, I do not profess to understand this matter very well, but have some idea as to the merits of all these questions of the improvement of transportation and of the commerce of the State, and I hold that it is the policy of this Legislature to increase the means of transportation, and that is the best way to develop all the interests of the State, not to allow any one railroad to have the monopoly of all the railroad lines or any one company to have the monopoly of carrying the oil but that all companies that come here and propose and show that they have the means to increase the facilities of carrying this commodity to market ought to be encouraged and fostered That, it seems to me is the principle that we ought to go upon, and believing in that great principle, as well as that it is involved in the bill before the House, I think we ought to lay the bill aside for a second reading

I know very little about the question as between Crawford and Venango, except that one end of this line is in Crawford county and the other in Venango county, but I cannot for the life of me see why, even upon the local question, the gentlemen from Crawford have not a clear and undoubted right to come to this Legislature and ask for this legislation It is well known that the city of Titusville is the centre of business with regard to this matter of petroleum and has long been so, and it is well known that a vast amount of capital is engaged there in all the various operations connected with the oil business, and has been for a long time and that it has been assisting to fill the treasury of the State and the treasury of the nation by developing the petroleum interests of Pennsylvania—There they have all the facilities for transacting business Banks have been built up there entirely by this business, large sums of money are invested there in the manufacture of machinery, every article of machinery, from that which is used in putting down a well, to that needed in the refining of oil, comes from the town of Titusville, and is doing good to all the people in the increase of the facilities which it makes in this oil business

It appears to me, sir, that they ought to be supported in the measure which they are taking for the development of oil in that part of the country, and it is a vain idea upon the part of any Legislature to say that the oil which is flowing from these wells shall go but in one direction, and I think the point advanced by the gentleman from Crawford is the one that we ought to accede to at the request of those men and allow them to be incorporated and to go on with their business, and not deprive the State of Pennsylvania of the large return which they are willing and anxious to make into the State Treasury

Mr Wilson—Mr Speaker, I rise merely to correct an impression that seems to have prevailed here, that there was some ill feeling between the members from Crawford and myself such is not the case

In regard to the remarks of the gentleman last upon the floor [Mr Mann] I think he is very far from being acquainted with the state of affairs there I will not impute to him a wilful misstatement But from his remarks it would be understood that we had no means for the transportation of oil in my country, that we had only a few wagons, etc., and persons taking and transportation companies

Mr Mann—So far from meaning to convey that idea, I would say that I am aware that there are innumerable methods of carrying oil there, and that this is only one of a large number of them

Mr Wilson—I misunderstood the gentleman I thought he had the idea that there was no other means of transportation there except by this tubing and perhaps other gentlemen understood him as I did. If so, it was a very great mistake Already we have railroads extending from Franklin to Oil City, from Oil City through by way of the river to the mouth of Pithole, and extending up to Pithole City the Reno road, extending across by way of Rouseville, and through to Pithole City, the road from Pithole City, which will soon be extended through to Titusville. So that it will be seen that we are not narrow in this matter, although we like to choose our own mode of carrying oil, and we hold that oil can be carried by rail as cheaply and with much less waste than it can be carried by tubing It is acknowledged that there is a large amount of waste from transportation by tubing which would be entirely avoided by transportation by rail

Now, sir, we want to have railroads encouraged we want to have more of them built, we want to have our country developed and we want to have cities and towns built up In regard to the gentleman's remark that this is becoming a great national question, I would say that this benefit is not confined to the State, or to the nation, but reaches beyond the sea to the whole world I might say, too, that this matter is enriching not only the great city of Philadelphia and most of our great cities but the national treasury also, to the tune of something like three millions dollars a year

This being the case, sir we cannot estimate the value of this great commodity, but we desire to choose our own mode of transportation and we believe that this House will bear us out in it We believe it is the true mode not only for the improvement of our region of country, but of the whole country For this reason we advocate it and hope that the bill will not go to a second reading

On the question, Shall the bill go to a second reading?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr Sturtevant and Mr Wilson, and were as follows—Yeas, 16, nays 71

So the question was determined in the negative, and the bill fell

EMPIRE LINE.

THE EMPIRE TRANSPORTATION COMPANY

Now offers to the business community a RELIABLE FAST FREIGHT LINE between the East and the West, and the GREAT OIL REGION OF PENNSYLVANIA.

It owns full controls all the cars of the Line which are new, and built expressly for its trade, and furnished with BROAD TREAD WHEELS, which enable it to run through irrespective of change of gauge, thus avoiding the inconvenience attendant on breaking bulk.

The Line is thoroughly manned and equipped for the business, and no effort will be spared on their part to render satisfaction to the patrons.

Parties ordering goods from the East will please direct Shipments to East Brady, via EMPIRE LINE, and refer them to the Agents of the Company for shipping directions, &c.

Particular attention given to forwarding OIL to New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

PROSPECTIVE VETO OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS BILL

DEATH OF MAJ GEN WILLIAMS

THE DISTILLERY FRAUDS IN NEW YORK.

GREAT ACTIVITY AT THE FENIAN HEAD QUARTERS

NEW YORK, March 24

The Evening Post contains the following Washington specials. The President's veto of the Civil Rights bill will probably be sent to Congress on Monday.

It is expected that the Loan bill will be amended by the Finance Committee.

The President yesterday expressed his disapproval of Mr Stewart's proposition for a universal amnesty on condition of the establishment of free suffrage.

The loan market is dull and well supplied at 5 per cent on call. Commercial paper passes at 7@9, with a scrutiny of dry goods and produce bills.

The stock market opened with a depressed and feverish feeling. At the close there was more activity. Governments are firm, except the bonds of 1868, which are offered at 116, 5-20s of 1862 are wanted at 103 5-8 for coupons and those of 1864 at 103 1-4, 10-40s are a fraction better, and close at 99 5-8. In 7-30s the speculative movement originated a few days ago continues, Border State stocks are rather better, Tennessees having advanced to 91 1 in 91 1-2, Virginias 68@69, and North Carolinas to 81. Missouris are steady without much activity. Railroad shares were dull and lower, with limited transactions.

The passage of the finance bill by the House of Representatives has produced a slight flurry up on the stock market. The adoption of a clause authorizing a foreign loan has taken Wall street by surprise, and the bill is regarded as granting the Secretary of the Treasury substantially all the power he asks for. The action of the House would produce a more marked effect upon the affairs here were it certain that the bill would pass the Senate in its present form. There is, however, considerable doubt as to whether the Senate will not insist upon a material curtail of the Secretary's powers, and this probability is confirmed by our advices from Washington.

Gold declined steadily to 125 1-4 @ 125 3-8 but without any panic feeling. The shorts were able to borrow what they required for making deliveries at 1 1-2 @ 1 1-8 per cent per day. The abundance of gold offering on loan is somewhat singular. It is rumored on the street that the Government is a lender of gold, but it is more likely that the Treasury should engage in any operations.

BOSTON March 24

Brevet Major General Williams died last night at 12 o'clock, at the residence of his sister in this city of inflammation of the brain probably occasioned by his severe labor in the Adjutant General's Department during the past three years. No officer could be more regretted or beloved.

NEW YORK March 24

The case of the United States vs the parties who are accused of having committed certain frauds in connection with the distilleries in this city, was resumed yesterday before Commissioner Betts. A motion was made to dismiss the complaint on the ground that it did not come within the purview of the statute. The Commissioner without pressing on this matter permitted the examination to be proceeded with.

Edward H Hoyt the officer alleged to have been bribed with the view of giving the aid of the Government to the persons implicated in the alleged fraud, was examined on the part of the prosecution, after which the Court adjourned till to day.

Nothing of special importance transpired to day at the O'Mahony headquarters. The sale of bonds yielded a large amount this morning. A communication was received from one of the Fenian leaders in Dublin stating that the British Government had given orders to open and examine all letters from the United States to such persons in Ireland as might be suspected of implication in the movement for Irish Independence.

There is much mystery and excitement about the Sweeney business but no fact is made known to the public.

The Commercial's special says: The Civil Rights bill will unquestionably be vetoed. The President took a firm position on the constitutionality of the clause providing for the punishment and restraint of State judges, and they will hold on this point. It is regarded as two thirds out over the vetoed doubtful.

The case of the United States against Sweeney Donovan of the distillers who in default of defendants the Government is trying the returns, was continued to day. There are several defendants who are charged with the same offence as Donovan and who occupy the same position and this case is to be made a test.

XXXIXth Congress First Session.

HOUSE—March 24

In preparing the loan bill to be telegraphed yesterday, a printed copy was used containing a clause which had been stricken out. The following clause should have been omitted.

And provided that the bonds which may be disposed of otherwise than in the United States may be made payable both principal and interest with coin or currency of the country in which they are made payable but shall not exceed a rate of interest exceeding five per cent per annum.

The above clause was not in the bill as it was passed.

The House met as it in Committee of the Whole, the only business in order being general debate on the President's annual message. The attendance both on the floor and in the galleries was very slim.

Mr Brooks rose to a personal explanation in reference to the Globe's report of the discussion between himself and the gentleman from Ohio (Mr Garfield) on Thursday last. He stated that the remarks purporting to have been made by Mr Garfield were not heard by him (Brooks) and were so loud and distinct that he could have heard them if they had been made. He reported although it was not his business to know or where the misreporting occurred. It was to him a matter of no material importance except that he wished to stand right on the record.

Referring to the report made by Mr Garfield in the last Congress from the Select Committee to investigate into the management of the Congressional Printing Bureau, he found that although it was not signed it commenced by a claim that "Mr Garfield from the Committee sent the following report." The minority report was signed by himself (Brooks) and Messrs Stewart, Steele and Dawson. He had a letter received from Mr Jordan Solicitor to the Treasury, to Mr Chase stating, as the result of an investigation and by him into the charges against J M Clark, a entire conviction that the most material of the statements were true.

Mr Garfield said that he was obliged to the gentleman from New York for the correction he had made. It was the universal custom for the member authorized by a committee to make the report and he had been so authorized. Surely some one of the four members associated with him—Mr Davis, of Maryland, Mr Wilson, of Iowa, Mr Julian of Rhode Island and Mr Fenton of New York—would have made a correction at the time. The conclusion of the report which he had made, was in these words: "Resolved, That the policy of printing public money in the Treasury has resulted in a great saving of expense to the Government and security against fraud, and that the affairs of the Printing Bureau have been conducted with marked ability and integrity." In addition to this there was a report from Mr Fenton expressly stating that he concurred with the report of the Committee in everything except a reduction on the New York Bank Note Company.

The Lands of the Company consist of Twelve Hundred acres, at Reno, on the Allegheny river, in Venango county Pennsylvania—the heart of the Oil District in that State.

ONE THOUSAND WELLS

Can be sunk upon the property without interference.

Test wells have been sunk on the estate, and Oil found in paying quantities in every instance. FIFTY WELLS are now being put down, to be followed by others as rapidly as possible to the extent necessary to fully develope the property. One hundred wells yielding only ten barrels a day each at six dollars a barrel—a price much below the average price at Reno—would produce one million eight hundred thousand dollars a year, making a profit of probably fifteen per cent on a capital of one million dollars. Hitherto Boring has failed to find a single acre of the territory in its field that does not contain oil within two years.

The Company owns the town of Reno together with Several Hundred Lots for Business and Dwelling Houses. There is an Extensive Demand for them, and revenue from their sale will be very great.

THE STOCK IS GUARANTEED

The Price of the Stock has been fixed at ONE HUNDRED AND FIVE DOLLARS per Share. Five Dollars go into the Treasury of the Company as a contribution to the Working Fund. The Five Dollars of the Stock, One Hundred Dollars is put to the Trustees to be Deposited in the Treasury of the United States, Safe Securities, and will be withdrawn BY THE STOCKHOLDER AT ANY TIME.

By the payment of Ten Dollars per month the Subscriber will receive the first year's development expenses, the right of withdrawing FULL FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS GUARANTEED STOCK for One Hundred Dollars all the way through, before the first day of April 1866. It is an investment with the chances of large profit and a safe one, worth a little MORE if properly managed. It might be called

The School Question.

While giving place to further communications on the subject of school houses, we will remark that we think the present board will act in this matter with as much disinterestedness and with as single an eye to the public good as their successors. Their judgment may be at fault while their motives are perfectly honorable. They have an official right to adopt one plan and reject another; the expediency of their course is another question. If those who oppose a central school house think the majority of our citizens are also opposed to, we should recommend them to call a public meeting which shall give a public expression to their remonstrance.

Unless an adverse public sentiment is ascertained in such an open manner after a full discussion and comparison of either proposition, the present Board are not likely to change their purpose or postpone action in the premises.

The suggestion has been made by many citizens that a City Hall should be provided in the Central School, if it is erected, in which the Common Council and School Directors could hold their sessions, and in which city meetings could be held. The want of such accommodations is apparent, and it is hoped that the plan of the new building can be modified in this respect, without adding materially to the cost.

THE TITUSVILLE AND PITHOLE TUBING COMPANY.—On Saturday afternoon last this Company commenced delivering oil in their tanks on the other side of Oil Creek, in this city, with the full capacity of one pipe. The other, not being started at the same time, has not commenced to deliver, but will do so this morning. Enough has been seen to demonstrate the perfect success of the enterprise. The break on the first trial was only temporary, occasioned by the putting in of a poor piece of pipe. The difficulty is removed, and everything is working successfully. Any of our citizens wishing to see the working of it can do so by going over the creek opposite the depot. A small boat will be found in the creek at the end of Monroe street for crossing. As a matter of caution, we would suggest that no one should smoke there, or in any way endanger the property of the company. Sheds will be erected in due time over the tanks to make things safer. The difference in elevation between Pithole and Titusville is 311 feet. The distance between these points lacks but a few feet of being nine and a quarter miles. Their is only one pump in operation as yet and the pressure is 326 pounds to the square inch. Another, intermediate pump is to be used. The capacity of both lines will then be 2,000 barrels a day!

The jail of Crawford county being so old and dilapidated as to be insecure, a bill was passed allowing the Sheriff to place the prisoners of that county in the jail of Venango county until that at Meadville could be repaired. The Venango Spectator says that Crawford county must wait awhile before being accommodated, saying of the Franklin jail: "At present the lower tier of cells is used for prisoners as a matter of necessity; but it is a disgrace to humanity to keep human beings in such a place. The plan on which the prison is being rebuilt is defective, being no improvement on the old one, and the general opinion is that the work already done should be torn down and a different plan adopted."

SCARCITY OF MINISTERS.—We hear it said that hundreds of pulpits in Puritan New England, are without pastors. The reason alleged is that religion is on the decline. This may be the effect, but it is not the cause. We should rather say it is owing to the narrow mercenary spirit of church societies who grudgingly pay their ministers a petty salary, such as a first class mechanic or clerk would scorn to accept. You cannot expect young men to enter the pulpit where they have to serve at starvation prices, while wealth and honor hold out their inducements to them if they engage in almost any commercial pursuit or any other learned profession. No wonder the cause of religion languishes under the present system of parsimonious salaries doled to its ministers.

A BUSINESS man with a family and respectable relatives, was fined five dollars, at Rochester, on Tuesday, for stealing a newspaper from beneath the door of a grocery store.

There are a few men in Titusville who make a practice of stealing the MORNING HERALD from the doors of subscribers. Several cases occurred last week. We will give a reward of ten dollars to any person who furnishes convincing proof of these acts of petty larceny. We want to make an example of a newspaper thief as a matter of justice to those of our subscribers who have suffered from such depredations.

A NEW EXPRESS COMPANY.—A new express company, the title of which is the "Merchants' Union," is being organized, with a capital stock of $15,000,000. The President of the organization is E. P. Ross, Esq., of Auburn, N. Y., and W. C. Beardsley is Treasurer. Hon. Wm. H. Seward and Gen. Slocum are also prominently identified with it. The stock of the company is being rapidly taken by merchants and manufacturers along the line of its routes and is still offered in limited sums.

SCHOOLS IN THE STATES.—The whole number of schools in the State is 12,548. The average attendance is 896,791. The average salaries of teachers have increased, those of males being $31.85, and of females $23.41 per month. The total cost of tuition for the year is increased over 1864 to the amount of $208,000. The total cost of tuition, fuel, house building and repairing, is about two million and three quarter dollars.

A BILL is before the New York Legislature, authorizing the New York Central Railroad Company to regulate its fares according to the rate of speed, thus: Twenty miles, or less per hour, two cents per mile; between twenty and twenty-five miles, two and one half cents per mile, and for thirty miles or more per hour, three cents.

THE Rural Hotel, Franklin, caught fire on Wednesday evening last, but by the prompt action of the fire department the building was saved, though the damage sustained will not fall short of $10,000. Much of the loss were owing to the reckless manner in which moverables were handled by the evident novices.

Letter from Washington, D. C.

MARCH 24, 1866.

Editors Morning Herald:

The second of the series of great historical paintings of the Rotunda is "DeSoto's Discovery of the Mississippi" by William H. Powell. The central and principal figure is the Governor DeSoto, who sits with the air of a king upon his living throne, a magnificent charger gally caparisoned; in front of him is a group of swarthy savages with their gaudy decorations; in the right hand corner is a company of priests and soldiers erecting a crude cross; in the left hand corner is a squad of artillerists, moving up "by hand to front" the only piece of heavy ordnance that belonged to the expedition; beyond, in the rear, comes dashing up a body of Spanish lancers preceded by the standards; and in the distance, its surface dotted with islands and swept by the gliding canoes, is the great "Father of Waters," never before seen by the eye of the white man.

The engraving upon the back of the ten dollar National Bank note preserves something of the admirable groupings, but the rich colorings cannot, of course be retained, and the expressions of emotion upon the different faces is almost entirely lost. The countenance of DeSoto is expressive of a grim satisfaction as he gazes with justifiable pride upon the noble river which rolls at his feet, and which reveals by the immense volume of its waters, the vast tracts of territory whose drainage thus finds an outlet to the ocean. The Indian chief, bowed and wrinkled with age, supported on either side by two powerful savages, holds in his hands the pipe of peace which is tastefully decorated with colored feathers; and before him are the presents which have been prepared for DeSoto, namely; two beautiful maidens, kneeling humbly before their new lord and clinging to each other with shrinking timidity; offerings of wild fowl, maize, grapes, a bow and quiver with arrows and a tomahawk, while an Indian is struggling up the bluff with a buck upon his shoulders.

In the right hand corner is a soldier who, with his spade, has been digging a hole into which his comrades are about to plant the foot of a rough crucifix made from a tree which has just been cut down; an old priest is crouched upon the ground, reading a prayer by which a blessing is invoked upon the sacred symbol; and another priest stands at his side swinging a censer and looking upward as if chanting responses. Opposite, in the left hand corner sits an old soldier, binding up a wound in his leg, from which the blood is flowing so freely as to show in a scarlet stain through the bandage; and beyond him is a youth with a bundle upon his shoulder, slung from a sword, and beside him another soldier, both eagerly pressing forward to view the river, the latter shielding his eyes from the slanting rays of the setting sun. One of the artillerists, also, who is lifting at the wheel of the piece, has a bandage around his head which is stained with blood. Next beyond is a gay young Spanish cavalier, magnificently dressed, and mounted upon a prancing steed, swinging his plumed hat in air as he catches the inspiration of the scene; and still further to the right and rear is a priest riding a mule, his hands clasped devoutly upon his breast and his eyes upturned to heaven, as if in the act of uttering a prayer of thanks, while his countenance, lighted up with the sun, seems to glow with intense joy and gratitude.

The most striking piece of artistic conception is embodied in the horse on which De Soto sits. There is mettle in every lineament of his noble form—in the proud arch of his neck, in the fire of his eye, in the nervous distention of his nostril, in the curbed impatience of his step, and in the chafed restraint with which he seems to be champing at the powerful bit. There is also a freshness about this picture which seems to be wanting in the others. The coloring is unusually rich and brilliant, the contrasts of hues and of lights and shades are vivid, and the groupings are arranged with rare skill. Unfortunately, less can be said for the fidelity with which the artist has followed the historical outline.

The meagre records of the expedition are so incomplete as to make it necessary to draw largely upon the imagination; but at the same time, a few of the characters who distinguished themselves might have been introduced with effect—such, for instance as Juan de Anasco, the skillful sailor and the bold and chivalrous leader who, when the army halted for the winter in Western Florida, opened communication with the coast at the South, and then returned with a handful of lancers through the wilderness of swamps and forests to the eastern coast and brought the ships around the peninsula to the bay of Apilachee; such as Gonzalo Silvestre, the most hardy and spirited of the youthful cavaliers, who performed the most remarkable feats of horsemanship, requiring wonderful powers of endurance; such as Luis de Moscoso de Alvarado, the Camp-master General, who became commander of the forces after the death of the Governor; and several others whose names are linked with the great expedition. But of the only two historical personages represented, De Soto and the old Chief, Chisca, the latter is shown in a false position. Chisca was lying ill in the house upon the top of the bluff, which was accessible only by ladders, and the bulk of his tribe lived in the village on the plain below. When the Spinish cavalry burst into the lower village with the suddenness and violence of a tornado, scattering the inhabitants like leaves from their path, old Chisca, though almost in a dying condition, was so enraged at the intruders that he seemed to be fired with the vigor of youth, and seizing his tomahawk he rushed forth to avenge this insult to himself and outrage upon his people.—He was, however, turned from his purpose by the dissuading counsel of his wise men, who represented the invaders as a strange and powerful race who might utterly annihilate them if too severly provoked, but who did not appear to be desirous of doing any harm if they were not opposed. De Soto himself sent a message to the chief, suing for peace, and promising to return all the prisoners whom he had taken, and to do no harm to the people or to the village except to take what provisions he might require. It was not that De Soto feared the Indians that he sued for peace; but because he was unwilling, at such a great distance from his ships, in the depths of such a howling wilderness and surrounded as he was by countless tribes of bloodthirsty savages, to risk the life of a single man or horse in a war that could be avoided. The old chief sullenly agreed to the terms, on condition that they should be rigidly enforced.

The discrepancy between this sketch and the scene of the picture is too apparent—the artist has represented the suit as brought by the defendant, and a squadron of cavalry as having successfully mounted the ladders to the fortress home of the Cazique.

The fate of the loan bill has fallen like a hot shot into the Committee of Ways and Means, adding another element of confusion and delaying still further the introduction of bills which must emanate from that committee.

THE Union Mills Bulletin is glad to be able to say that "the disease which recently appeared in our midst, and which proved so fatal to those attacked, has subsided, no cases of it having occurred since Thursday." It adds that the reports of the fatality of the disease circulated here and elsewhere, were greatly exagerated.

WE perceive by the returns of the Titusville election that Clark Ewing, Esq., has been elected Judge of Election in the First Ward of that city, by a unanimous vote. We always looked upon our friend Clark as a rising lawyer, but we didn't expect him to attain judicial honors quite so soon.—Erie Observer.

INCREASED PRODUCTION.—The sucker rods were the other day pulled from the Boughton well No 2, on Bull Run, since which time it has increased to five hundred barrels per day. This well has about ten thousand barrels of oil on hand, and has storage capacity sufficient for seventy thousand barrels.

PENNSYLVANIA is the only State, thus far, which has actually assumed the care of the children of her dead soldiers and two thousand of these are now in schools in this Commonwealth. The cost per pupil is about $150 per annum, exclusive of clothing.

THOMAS WOODS Esq., was elected Burgess of Union Mills, last week.

A Voice from Alabama.

A letter from Central Alabama, has been received by one of our citizens, written by a late officer of the Union army, who has settled upon a plantation and established his residence in the South. The correspondent says:

"I shall make the first planting of corn in a few days, (the date of the letter is March 7.) I have 13 good mules, which cost me about $140 each, I have bought 400 bushels of cotton seed for which I paid 50 cents a bushel. I have 25 capital hands (freedmen) who work as well as any white laborers I ever saw. My neighbors, (Southern brethern) use me like gentlemen so far. I have been appointed Postmaster, but I doubt whether I shall accept as I cannot find an assistant who can take the oath, and I will not be bothered with the business. The thing looks bright, but none can tell what clouds may arise. There are good chances to purchase here, but to get possession you will have to make arrangements with the laborers (freedmen) &c."

This is probably but one case in a thousand of our soldiers settling in the South. It seems from this account, which was not intended for the public eye, that the slaves are willing to work, and that their services give satisfaction. It further appears that a Northern man can pursue his business unmolested, even in a neighborhood which was so tainted with secession that not a man can be found there who is not from his active participation in the rebellion, disqualified from holding office. This is the "bright side" of the picture, and we are glad it can be vouched for. The South presents an attractive field for Northern capital and enterprise. No where are lands so cheap, comparatively, and the profits of crops so remunerative.

Titusville and Union Railroad.

UNION MILLS, March 23.

Editors Morning Herald:

The confession made by the "Loud call for reduction of freight" in your edition of yesterday, strikes practical men here in a ludicrous light. It is compared to the prayer of the cartman in the fable, invoking Hercules to help him out of the mire.

Now, if "Oil shippers" and the producers, whose tale of woe he tells so well will follow the sensible advice of the God of strength on that occasion, we predict a like successful issue. "Shipper" says "there is no probability of the Union Railroad being built for months to come." Why not? Had the oil shippers and producers of your city subscribed last summer as much in proportion to their means as our citizens did to the stock of the Union R. R., and paid when called on, that road would have been in operation for months past, and might now be delivering oil into vessels in Erie harbor at a lower figure than is charged for transportation to Corry.

These vessels, bound to every port in the world where there is a demand for Petroleum, would make it worth nearly as much on shipboard at Erie as in the hands of commission merchants in New York, and save to the producer the little item of $2.04 per barrel and, by the use of tanks on cars and at terminl of the road, a large part of another item of $3.50 for the barrel which appears in "oil shipper's" bill of expenses.

Reduce this saving to the lowest possible point and all producers alone will gain enough by it to pay for the Union Road every year, and to refund all that is needed from them in building it four times a year.

Sixty days will finish the road if Titusville will come to its aid as Union is doing.

Propositions are pending from several responsible parties to equip the road as soon as completed. The only man in Titusville who has behaved liberally in the matter, is the President of the road, who sent us yesterday an offer of $10,000 in addition to his former subscription, payable as fast as needed, provided none others will do the same.

The amount being the material condition and not the number of persons pledging it, the Directory at this end of the line will raise half the balance if Titusville will do the rest.

This, with other sums guaranteed, will build the road and insure the control of it to the local interests, and prevent powerful corporations using it for purposes of oppression and extortion.

Let Titusville no longer "lie in the mud bawling to Hercules, but up and clap her shoulders to the wheel and whip her horses stoutly," and the car that holds her destiny will no longer stick in the slough monopoly. P. Q.

The School House Question.

Editors Morning Herald:

I had hoped our School Directors would have had regard enough for the desires of our people not to act with unseemly haste in the matter of giving out the contract for the erection of a "new brick school house," but am sorry to see such is not to be the case.

I cannot understand why clothing a body of men with a "little brief authority" should instill a desire to squander the public money, more especially when the future of this city wears such a sombre garb. Not a single one of the gentlemen comprising the Board, would for a moment entertain the idea of building such a costly edifice for his own convenience, why then are they so lavish of the money of the public? I am loth to believe that mercenary motives influence them, although I hear such imputed. I cannot think it is to benefit any present or past member of the Board that they intend, despite all opposition, to give out the contract, though such assertions are made. A few days will prove however, and it will then be time to investigate—should they persist in the course certain parties who are expecting to do part of the work say they will.

A——.

The Same Subject.

Editors Morning Herald:

I have been waiting, hoping that some one would continue the discussion over the relative merits of Ward Primaries vs. High School, but as "Tax Payer" who first brought the matter before the public is neglecting it, I would like to give my views of the case. I am not an owner of real-estate, and it therefore makes no difference to me whether one or one hundred thousand dollars are foolishly expended; I have no influence and cannot hope to participate in the profits of the job, so I shall neither advocate or oppose it from pecuniary motives. But I am a parent, and have the misfortune to live at the outer edge of the city. I have children who have attended the school here, and I desire they should continue to receive instruction—and from these causes I am in favor of Ward schools. Vacation has now commenced, and as far as I can see is likely to continue during the ensuing summer and autumn. I cannot afford to send my little ones to a paid school—will you tell me, Messrs. Directors, what I am to do with them? Must they run through the streets, and while acquiring pernicious habits lose their beneficial knowledge they have obtained during the past winter.—Would you not be acting more in accordance with the responsibilities of your position to have schools prepared for their reception at an early day. And ward schools could undoubtedly be built in less time than the proposed one, besides possessing the advantage of being nearer the houses of the pupils who attend them. 'Tis no small task for children to walk two or three miles a day in going to and returning from school, facing wintry blasts or exposed to the scorching heat of mid-summer sun. Inclement weather often causes their retention at home, when, the distance were but trifling, they would be sent.

I pray you, gentlemen, to consider the little ones as well as the "Tax Payers" and not allow a personal feeling of pique, stubbornness or resentment to influence your actions.

An old man sat in his chair one day,
And sadly mused on life's decay,
For his thin and scattered locks were gray
With time and sorrow's changing away,
And his life declined as the setting sun.

He had dug for gold on the western hill,
He had dug for oil at Titusville,
'Till the wealth of each his purse did fill,
But his hair was growing grayer still,
And the sands of life seemed almost run.

The old man sits in his chair to-day,
But the aged look has passed away;
And his tresses, once so thin and gray,
A dark luxuriance now display—
He used the "MARTHA WASHINGTON."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, March 24.

The money market is easy at 5@6 per cent, and the excess of loanable funds is so largely in excess of the demand that loans are negotiated easily for short dates on mixed collaterals.

The gold market is steady at about 128, with not sufficient fluctuations to pay the brokerage and government tax. Gold is becoming scarce for delivery, owing to the absorption of the Custom House, and also to heavy purchases by large operators who are trying to make it scarce. The rates of gold loans to-day were irregular at 1-32 1-16, and about the middle of the day to the close, ½ per cent. The foreign exchange market was active among bankers, but there is no demand from importers. The asking or nominal rate with prime bankers for 60 days sterling bills is 108, but sales are made at 107¾ to 107⅞, and one leading prime banker, after receipt of the Australian news, offered to sell a round sum at 107⅞, and at the same time declines to buy any bills. It is surmised that the offer to sell at 107⅞ is against large orders to remit United States five-twenty bonds. Good city bankers ask 107½ to 108⅛. In names, bankers' sixty-day bills are offered at 525 to 526½, and commercial at 530. In New Orleans to-day gold is selling at 125, and sterling bills at 153 in currency. The market is weak, and the demand for 520 bonds to ship to Europe is likely to make it still weaker.

Government bonds are firm, especially in the old 520 bonds, and holders are not disposed to sell them at any rent rates in the expectation of a considerable advance in Europe.

The dry goods trade is more active, and prices are steady.

PETROLEUM MARKETS.

TITUSVILLE, March 24.

The petroleum markets remain about the same as usual.

We understand from reliable sources that the different lines of transportation from Corry, contemplated a combination to raise the price of freight on oil, such rise to take place on the first of April. There is such a thing in this world as cutting off one's own head. In the existing condition of the markets such a rise is equivalent to stopping the oil trade, at least so far as these roads are concerned. The producers, rather than sell their oil at a loss, will put up tankage of sufficient capacity to store their oil for six months if necessary.

The oil can be transported through pipes to the city and held here until such time as these monopolists come to their senses, or until the surplus oil is entirely cleared out of New York, Boston and Philadelphia.

There never was a time when such an opportunity was offered for giving this market the command over every other in the country. What is to prevent the producers from combining and making up a capital of $200,000 for the purpose of storing their oil. This capital if properly applied would afford storage room for 1,000,000 barrels of oil, which, at the rate of 5 cents per barrel per month, would yield a very handsome dividend on the capital invested. This would at once bring the market to its proper bearing. If the oil is not worth anything at present, let them hold it until it is worth something.

Oil could be taken at a paying price from this city to New York for $2 00 per barrel, and anything over that price is simply extortion. The producing interests in this territory and everything depending on them have suffered too severely and too long not to feel the absolute necessity of some decisive and immediate action being taken in regard to this matter, and the only door left open is to try the effect of stopping the supply for a few months.

If the oil were stored here, capitalists would be induced to hold for a rise, what the producers could not hold for themselves.

The floods above this time last year which swept away and destroyed to large an amount of oil, and for a long time prevented the transit of oil over the damaged railroads, had a very salutary effect in strengthening the then low and drooping market, and this year as there will be no flood, the only plan to adopt is to store the oil here, at least until living prices are offered to producers for their oil.

Wedded at the Ford.

[illegible]
[illegible] of beauty the tongue of truth—
[illegible] of life of us all,
[illegible] voice was the music call,
[illegible] all eyes followed with one consent,
[illegible] of whose lustre, and whose pleasant word,
[illegible] all murmurs of discontent.

Only for light, as we rode along,
Down the dark of the mountain gap,
To visit the picket-guard at the ford,
Little dreaming of any mishap,
He was humming the words of some old song:
"Two red roses he had on his cap,
And another he bore at the point of his sword."

Sudden and swift a whistling ball
Came out of the woods and the voice was still;
Something I heard in the darkness fall,
Stood for a moment my blood grew chill;
It spoke to a whisper, as he who speaks
In a room where some one is lying dead;
But he made no answer to what I said.

We buried him up in his saddle-cloth,
And through the mist and the mist and the rain
Carried him back to the silent camp,
And laid him as it asleep on his bed;
And I saw by the light of the surgeon's lamp
Two white roses upon his cheeks,
And one just over his heart blood-red!

And I saw in a vision how far and fleet
That fatal bullet went speeding forth
Till it reached a town in the distant North,
Till it reached a house in a sunny street,
Till it reached a heart that ceased to beat
Without a murmur, without a cry;
And a bell was tolled in that far-off town,
For one who had passed from cares to crown—
And the neighbors wondered that she should die.

All Sorts.

—Why did Adam when alone find the day very long? Because it was always morning after Eve.

—Why are the people who stutter not to be relied on? Because they are always breaking their word.

—What would this world be without women? A perfect blank—like a sheet of paper, not even ruled!

—"No, father isn't a drone, either," said a bright lad; "he's a philanthropist, and collects money for the heathen in Africa to pay for our house and things."

—A physician, speaking of the frail constitutions of women of the present day, remarked: "We ought to take great care of our grandmothers, for we never shall get any more."

—Generally speaking, an excuse is a genteel overcoat for a lie!

—What an absent-minded man was he who on falling into the river, sank twice before he recollected he could swim.

—In the month of January, a remarkable tree was brought to New York from a Western State, which is considered by the best judges to be worth $25,000. This was a black walnut tree, seventy feet long, board or inch measure 4,500 feet, but when cut into veneers, it would be thirty times that, making 135,000 feet, which, at twenty cents would be $27,000. The cost of cutting, carting and placing in store for sale, would be about $700.

—When a man and woman are made one by a clergyman, the question is, which is the one—Sometimes there is a long struggle between them before this matter is finally settled.

—An analyzing dame reports that she never heard of fair or old woman who kissed her cow; but she knows of many thousand of young ones who have kissed very great calves."

—Pleasure is a bird that a child runs after so long as it keeps a-flying, but which he kicks away from him the moment it stops.

—Among a list of comparatives a Philadelphia exchange gives us the following: positive pecan, comparative piano, superlative penuit.

—A new inventor for the manufacture of paper socks is announced. The socks are made of paper and muslin combined. The inventors say that they will last as long as an ordinary pair would keep prism, and they can be made so cheaply that their cost will not equal the price of washing. These socks are intended to bear the same relation to knitted or woven socks or stockings as that paper collars do to linen or muslin collars.

—It will be remembered that at the time of the death of the lamented Colonel Ellsworth, he was soon to have been married to a Miss Spafford, of Rockford. This same Miss Spafford was married at Rockford, Illinois, on the evening of the 7th inst., to a Mr. Brett, a gentleman of wealth and position in Boston. The wedding was a grand affair, a large number of guests being present on the occasion—occasion.

—The marriage law of Pennsylvania is undergoing change. A simple agreement between the couple, in the presence of witnesses, has been held to be a legal marriage heretofore, but that sort of thing will be done away with, and the services of a clergyman or magistrate will be now required.

—Ex-President Buchanan is said to spend most of his time telling stories of the grandeur of his administration.

—A duel was fought between 12 and 1 o'clock of Saturday night or Sunday morning at Culpeper Courthouse, Va., between Edward Pegram, Presiding Justice of the County Court and Walter H. Robinson. The parties met on the platform of the railroad depot. As the night was very dark, lamps were employed to enable them to distinguish each other. Shots were exchanged, but neither party was hit. What a pity.

—The London Telegraph, alluding to Mr. Peabody's new gift to the poor of London, remarks: "We would be paying a bad compliment to the great American merchant if we called his benevolence 'princely,' for no modern prince has effected one-tenth of the good that may reasonably be expected to result from Mr. Peabody's munificent gift. The gain to the community is all the greater because the giver lets not scattered his bounty broadcast in the form of largesse, and because the old he vouchsafes has no tendency rather to pamper the laziness of pauperism, or to pauperize the working class."

—Miss Esther Smith, who has spent thirty-three years among the Cherokee Indians as a missionary, died on the 24th of January. She had been declining in health for many months, and died very peacefully in Christ, for whom she had lived and labored. She was buried in the old military graveyard at Fort Gibson.

—The Schuylkill (Ala.) Times says a colored woman in that city, recently, aged one hundred and twenty-seven years. She is the mother of fifteen children, having had triplets three times.

—In the case of Benjamin F. Newland, of Indiana, who was indicted for the murder of Evans, the elected trapper, it is said that questions of politics are involved and help to augment the excitement. The doctor has been related on forty thousand dollars bail.

—Agassiz goes on from victory to victory in Brazil. He will need a steamboat to bring home the fish and creeping things. The last reported consists hoped up 95d different fishes, of which 700 are new species and fifteen are of new genera; and he is still fishing!

—More than two hundred thousand copies of the New Testament, in the Russian vernacular, are said to have been sold in that empire in the course of the last two years.

From Being Buried Alive.

E. H. CRITTENDEN

WAS IN A TRANCE

For six long weeks, and is

REGAINING HIS HEALTH

very rapidly by attending strictly to

HIS OWN BUSINESS

and letting other people

DO THE SAME.

I return my sincere thanks to my many kind friends for their liberal patronage since I have been

IN TITUSVILLE,

And hope I shall merit the same

IN THE FUTURE.

I will say I have the largest and

FINEST STOCK OF

LIQUORS

ever offered to the people of Titusville and trade

IN NORTH-WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA.

I have a large assortment of

GLASS WARE,

For both private families and

PUBLIC HOUSES,

The best assortment ever brought to this market. I have in stock now the

CELEBRATED McKECHNIE ALE,

of Canandaigua Also

WESTERN BREWERY,

of Detroit, which I am offering as cheap as any in the market.

LIQUORS, CIGARS,

AND

GLASS WARE,

I will sell

Fifty Per Cent. Cheaper than any other House in North-Western Pennsylvania.

This is a Rare Chance for Private Families, Hotels and Saloons, to lay in a stock of Good and Pure Liquors.

Private families should not be without Good and Pure Liquors in the house. I have in stock fine

Brandies,

Gins, Rums,

Port Wines, Porter

and Scotch Ale,

I will warrant to be Genuine Imported Goods.

PLEASE CALL AND EXAMINE

my stock, it does not cost anything to examine my goods.
